

RiseHardware

Purchasing hardware can be a mine field of jargon and acronyms ultimately leading to the purchase of unnecessary equipment and more importantly loss of money. We can take the stress out of all this, if you are looking simply for advice or require us to source and install new hardware we can help.

We will firstly discuss with you what it is you are trying to achieve and then offer you unbiased advice on the hardware you require. We are not resellers for anyone and are completely independent. We don't get commission for selling products and are not swayed by anyone. The advice we offer is unbiased and fair.

We can install any hardware for you and then make sure you know how it works so you are confident with it.

We also build workstations and servers to a desired specification to ensure the equipment has the functionality you want and none of the functionality you don't, thus saving you money.

All of this is backed up by our promise, on all of our services, that you have one month after installation to ensure you are happy with the product and that there are no unsightly problems.

We can help you with:

- Determining your needs
- Sourcing new hardware
- Installing new hardware
- Training where necessary

We keep up to date with new technology so you don't have to.

Call us for a chat on 08450 940 773 or email us at info@risesolutions.co.uk to see how we can help you.
