

RiseSupport

So you've had a chat about the best way forward, a new program has been written, you've had new hardware installed and networked together, your corporate identity has been designed, your literature is done and your web site looks fabulous, what next?

Your relationship with Rise Solutions doesn't have to end here. We offer support for all of our services whether you want a support contract and pay a monthly retainer or simply want to use our support ad-hoc, it's up to you.

We pride ourselves on being flexible and bespoke to fit in with your needs not anyone else's, we don't offer a standard number of support packages. You may need a hardware/software technician or an IT doctor, you may require more PR and communications focused help, we can offer as little or as much support as necessary.

We also understand that businesses are forever changing and as a result our flexible support contracts change with them.

We can help you with:

- Hardware and Software Support
- PR and Communications Support
- Dealing with third party IT companies on your behalf

Peace of Mind

We are confidant about our work. Our peace of mind guarantee means that any work carried out for you is protected with a 30 day cooling period. This means if something goes wrong with the work we carried out in the first place, we will come back out, free of charge, to put it right.

Call us for a chat on 08450 940 773 or email us at info@risesolutions.co.uk to see how we can help you.
